About Davis & Floyd....

Davis & Floyd is multi-disciplined engineering and architecture firm that works collaboratively with our clients to design and build innovative projects that improve our communities. With over 60 years of continuous operation, our privately-owned firm has approximately 175 employees located in five offices across South Carolina including Charleston, Columbia, Florence, Greenville, and Greenwood. We focus on federal, industrial, local government, private development, stormwater, transportation, and water & wastewater market sectors.

Davis & Floyd has worked with TPM for a number of years to provide technical assistance and training. In the last year, we have worked with TPM to create a customized InfraWorks course for four of our more advanced users. Last year, we sent eight of our new hires to take a Civil3D fundamentals course and we are sending five more new hires to take the same course this year. TPM helps our new employees quickly become proficient with the latest software and makes sure Davis & Floyd continues to use the latest technology to its fullest potential.
